Atlanta, famous for the unbounded enthusiasm with which it welcomes the great, surpassed itself Monday when more than a quarter of a million peo-ple, the greatest multitude ever assembled below the Mason and Dixon line, thundered a vocal tribute to the next president of the United States, Franklin D.

Paralyzing the largest detail of police ever mustered here, the crowd which viewed Monday's parade broke through the lines at half a dozen points,

Almost 200,000 Georgians and visitors from the neighboring states lined the route of the great parade, believed to be a record for crowds in the south.

Previously the city's 50,000 school children massed in front of their respective schools and paid tribute to Governor Roosevelt which he termed one of the most impressive he had ever witnessed in his many years in public life.

"Everlastingly Grateful." "This is a day I shall never forget," the nominee said late Monday afternoon when he got his first rest since early morning. "I will see the eager faces and the lighted eyes. of my fellow Georgians as long as I live. There are no words that can describe how I feel. I can just only imagine. I am deeply and everlastingly grateful to the people of this great state. I am proud to call it home."

Long before the parade got under way at Peachtree and Baker streets every available inch of space along the line of march was massed with humanity that stretched farther than the eye could see. So great were the crowds that the police had to call into service national guard officers who were supposed to be among the marchers but who had to give up their places in order that order might be maintained during the progress of the procession.

A ceremony planned to take place at the Henry W. Grady monument was cancelled because the crowd was cancelled because the crowd agriculture and will bring resultant prosperity to business and industry was so dense at Henry Grady square Governor Roosevelt told his great audience at the city auditorium would have taken Governor Roosevelt's daughter, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, too long to get through the gathering. Likewise, brief ceremonies which were to have taken place at the city hall and the state capitol also were called off when massed humanity stretched across the grounds of both buildings.

Big Auditorium Holds Less Than Half of Crowd Gathered for Address. Attack on G. O. P. Draws Great Applause.

BY L. A. FARRELL.

To a madly cheering crowd of more than 15,000 persons, less than half of whom were able to gain entrance to the city auditorium to see as well as hear him, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt pointed to re-forestation of idle farm lands as the third and one of the most important parts of his multiplex program for the rehabilitation of agriculture on which, he holds, the recovery of the world from the econd

Speaking before an audience whose membership was composed chiefly of people interested in manufacture and distribution, the presidential nominee of the democratic party convinced his hearers that only by immediate operation of de-serted agricultural lands could prosperity be brought back to the world and particularly to those sections which are predominantly agricul-

The New York governor revealed that he had been studying this as a national project for more than a a national project for more than a year, adding that he felt two other points in his program already had been thoroughly discussed in his addresses at Topeka and Springfield though he went into some detail in reviewing these, a plan whereby the farmer could be relieved of some of the staggering tax burden he is forced to bear and another which provided easing of credit to him. provided easing of credit to him, especially concerning mortgages on his property.

Russell Is Praised.

Governor Roosevelt warmly praised the administration of Governor Russell in Georgia, saying that the governor had greatly re-duced expenditures to stay within the budget.

"If the administration at Washington had followed the same policy," he added, "it would not have ernmental needs."

His audience, which cheered vociferously time and again, gave the governor the strictest attention, halting him only at points where he reached a climax and breaking into pandemonium only when he turned his bitter fire on the Hoover administration and its failures.

Only by use of idle lands for forestry can agriculture hope to sur-count the obstacles facing it, Governor Roosevelt asserted in his address Governor Roosevelt was given a ten-minute ovation as he mounted the stage on the arm of his son, James, and moved slowly to a seat immediately behind a set of microphones which were gaily decorated with flowers and bunting. During the ovation the police and the fire-men's bands joined in playing the democratic campaign song, "Happy, Days Are Here Again." The cheering would have gone on indefinitely, had not half a dozen party leaders on the stage signalled for a stop in order that Governor Roosevelt might begin his address at the exact GREAT MAJORITES might begin his address at the exact time announced for the radio to carry his message.

DENVER, Col., Oct. 24.—(A)—
A wet and clinging five-inch snow today was piled upon Denver breaking down trees and shrubbery and seriously impeding traffic.
Reports indicated the storm was spreading northward. New Mexico was warm and sunny, but Trinidad, Col., just north of the Raton mountains, was cloudy, threatening and cold. At La Junta a light fog was reported.

Snow was falling from Pueblo Col., northward to Sterling and mixed rain and snow were falling through most of Wyoming. Cheyenine, Laramie and Casper, Wyo., all reported snow fall.

A drenching rain fell in western Nebraska.

The Chest and the Unemployment Relief Fund are Atlanta's agencies for providing life's necessities for the unemployed, the impoverished, the aged, the young, the sick, and the friendless in the community.

If you have a job, you CAN give. If you have a heart, you WILL give. And if you have already subscribed, is it asking too much to suggest that you increase your contribution this year? The need has never been so great. The need of many has never even existed before.

COMMUNITY CHEST AND UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

This space contributed by Force of 1,500 Volunteers Comb City for Relief Constributions.

Undaunted by interests which de tracted attention from a grim task on the part of Atlanta citizens, more than 1,500 ambassadors of mercy called on thousands of persons Monday in beginning the 1932 drive to raise Community Chest $500,000 funds to fight the bleakest winter Atlanta has ever faced. At nightfall, tired workers left the streets to return to their homes, where telephones were used to con-tinue the work of relief.

While figures of the first day's general canvass were not consolidated Monday night, general opinion among workers was that results were as satisfactory as on the first day last year. Subscriptions were easier to secure this year, they said, and average individual contributions were about equal those of 1931.

Marshaled during the last several days, the 1,500 field workers scattered over the city armed with subscription cards and a determined line of argument to convince sluggish contributors that Atlanta must have at least $500,000 to meet the bare necessities of 45,000 needy citizens.

Report Meeting Today. Report Meeting Today.

The first report meeting will be held at 12:15 o'clock today, when the workers will gather for luncheon at Taft hall. The luncheon was donated by Atlanta food dealers and no cost will come from the Community Chest. At that time group leaders will report progress of the first day. Daily meetings will be held at the same time and place until the drive goes over the top, Frank Neely, president, said.

Large Donation Drive.

While the field workers were calling on individuals, workers in the large donations division continued their work, which was unfinished last week due to absence from the city of many who were substantial contributors last year. Leaders said they hope to complete work in that division within a day or two.

Problems faced by the Community Chest in caring for the increased number, of destitute persons were described Monday afternoon over radio station WGST by J. Arch Avery Jr., of the investment department of the First National Bank of Atlanta, Mr. Avery told how Atlanta was rebuilt from the ashes of the War Between the States, and declared that "we will not fail now." Beautiful Stage Setting.

The first impression that here we had something out of the usual came when the first act curtain disclosed a stage setting that was literally a gem stage setting that was literally a gem of the theatrical artist's genius. Art Director Senior contributed considerably to the success of the opening night. The colorful scene drew spontaneous applause and a delighted audience turned to whisper to each other their surprised pleasure. It was a setting unusual for a stock company and one that would compare favorably with any opening night in a orably with any opening night in a New York theater.

Then, as members of the cast made Then, as members of the cast made their first entrances, spoke their opening lines and were weighed in the balance, the sensation of pleasure increased. As President Roy LeCraw, of the Chamber of Commerce said, in a brief speech after the close of the play, "when the chamber agreed to sponsor this company we insisted that it must be, throughout, nothing short of the best. And tonight we are proud to realize that the producer. Rowland G. Edyards, has so splendidly carried out the promise he made Rowland G. Edwards, has so spiendid-ly carried out the promise he made at that time."

The play itself is strange and differ-ent. It is built on the theme that death is really not a thing to inspire kindly, something gracious, come to take him to an even better place than the earth he has known in life.

In the story, Death takes form as a mortal and lives, for three days, in the guise of Prince Sirki, a guest at the castle of Count Lambert. While Death takes this holiday, life reigns triumphant over earth, there is no death, no decay, man grows young again and even the flowers never fade nor wither.

It is a most interesting play, magnificently wedleted by introduced Producer Edwards, who in turn presented the individual members of the company to the audience. The stage by that time was a veritable bower of flowers, bouquets and baskets and clusters from friends across the footlights surrounding every member of the company.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Jacobs and Mr. Frederic Tozere Lauded.

Atlanta has rarely seen as great a performance by any player, including the most famous stars of the theater, as that of Frederic Tozere as Death and Prince Sirki. His every move, the tones of his voice and the inflections of his expression, conveyed the idea of the playwright. He gave us the exact sensation of a kindly Death, puzzled by the dread that every living thing feels at his approach. He longed, with the longing of inimitable time, to see something young and beautiful that would come gladly to his open arms. To know a love that would end his eternal loneliness.

Second place in praise for the individual performances last night must goo to Elinor Flynn, who was a most lovely Princess Grazia. She stepped straight into the heart of every member of the audience the moment she first came upon the stage.

with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. A TIMELY STEP.

A stitch in time saves oftentimes more than nine.

Governor-elect Talmadge has acted wisely in seeking and obtaining a hearing on the matter of restricting cotton from Florida areas infested with the pink boll worm, one of the most dangerous elements to cotton farmers.

The Florida crop already is 90 per cent ginned. There could not be any great loss if the cotton infected is forced off the market entirely. But it is the danger that lies in the worm's potentialities that arouses Commissioner Talmadge to action. The Spanish government has confiscated all the large estates in the coun try. The nobles who are therewith reduced to relative poverty did not receive the least compensation. Yet this move does not signify that Spain has gone bolshevik. Spain has only arrived at that point of social evolution where France stood in 1795 when the big French estates were broken up and divided among the beasants.

If Kerensky had done this after the first revolution in Russia, it is very possible that the subsequent bolshevik revolution would not have taken place. The Spanish measure on the face of it looks revolutionary. But in reality it is not so. To create a class of a n or so small property owner is the surest guarantee against bol-shevism, as the history of France defi-

Nobody Encourages the Crowd To Throw Bricks If He Is Near the Target -By Robert Quillen-

Do you know why the ordinary man doesn't push others aside to reach a ticket window? Or why he doesn't disregard the rights of others and take advantage of them to get what he desires?

It isn't primarily because he has a sense of justice and fair play. It because he is afraid. He knows he would get hurt. Fear is the chief aid of peace and justice. Do you know why old men, women and fat statesmen clamor for war when the world displeases them?

Because they know they are safe. They know they will not be required to sleep in wet trenches, scratch cooties, live in filth, fight for breath as poison gas eats out their lungs or lie on a shell-torn field while their mangled bodies writhe in agony. They know that young heroes will do the suffering while they remain safely at home.

The world was horrified when Germany began the use of poison gas, but its worst fears were groundless. Gas shells were used only at the battlefront. Enemy cities were bombed, but none of the bombs Do you know why? Because each nation was afraid of retribution Each was afraid to begin that final horror and thus invite and justify a rain of poison upon its own crowded cities.

Yet final ultimate perfection of heartless cruelty might have been the final lesson needed to teach mankind a new sanity.

People now discuss the "next war" as coolly and indifferently they discuss earthquakes in a land far away. If they dread it, they think of the cost in money.

Would they feel that same calm detachment if bombing planes had dropped poison gas on defenseless towns and cities, killing and burning millions of women and children, in the last year of the world war? You know they would not. The prospect of war would fill ther with terror. They would imagine it as an unseen horror dropping out of the skies to poison the innocent and the helpless. War would be a fearful plague from which none could escape, And terrified public opinion in all lands would demand an end warfare. You can't end war by making rules to save the civilian population from its horrors. Civilians make public opinion, and public opinion makes war possible by tolerating it. Let non-combatants suffer as soldiers do. They will suffer but once, and then warfare will end. There will be none to justify war when none can watch it from a safe distance.

THE DENTIST'S WIFE SPILLS
THE BEANS.

Once when the conductor of this column was about to address an audience on a child health program some ladies on the committee confessed that they had seriously considered the idea of presenting me with an enormous tooth brush at the moment of my introduction to the audience. For some reason they did not carry out the idea—much to my regret.

My teachings anent dental hygiene or how to save your teeth may not inspire great enthusiasm among the dentists, that is, not officially. But the dentists' wives, children, sisters, brothers-in-law and cousins are different. Some of these unofficial members of dentists' families are not at all scornful. In fact, some of them are quite pleasant spoken.

Dear Dr. Brady:

My husband is a dentist. Our two children, aged four and halfpast-five, have perfect teeth. Flawless, well placed, perfectly aligned, perfectly clean. Neither child has ever owned a tooth-brush.

Both children were thumb-suckers until we finally succeeded in curing them at the age of two. The teeth of both parents are re-grettably poor. The teeth of all their cousins, uncles and aunts are poor, or at best ordinary.

The answer, we believe, is diet. Our children are carefully fed. Simple food: lots of raw vegeta-bles, lots of raw milk, quite a few natural sweets—figs, dates, etc. No between-meal lunches. Candy only after meat-and-vegetable meals. If a yellow stain occurs on the teeth we feed more orange or tomato juice, and the stain dis-appears.

The band hears that Governor
Roosevelt is about to come on the stage. It strikes up "Happy Days Are Here Again," and the house goes wild. Finally, preceded by alert news photographers, the New York governor walks out onto the stage. His son, James Roosevelt, guides him through the rows of seats on the proscenium, while the 7,000 voices shout themselves hoarse in an ovation of more than a minute and a half.

Someone attending a huge search-light halfway up in the audience turns the light on the speakers' stand. You can see Roosevelt's eyes then. They are bluegray. They look just the least tired. He blinks as the powerful lights sweep across his face. The lights are extinguished—momentarily. People are standing in chairs now, cheering for the next president. It is a long period of applause. Then there is an abrupt, nunatural silence. Crowd Becomes Deathly Still.

FOR DEBT ROW TODAY

One Faction Will Seek To Postpone Debate on Delicate Problem.

PARIS, Oct. 24 .- (AP)-Among the important domestic and foreign problems which parliament will consider in the session which begins tomorrow. few have received more attention, at least in the newspapers, than the issue of the debt to the United States.

In tomorrow's session one faction will seek to have the chamber of deputies come out flatly against the payment of any more than France gets from Germany. Another faction will seek to postpone consideration of the debt problem until after the American presidential election.

Louis Marin, leader of the extreme right nationalists, is to introduce a resolution declaring that France shall not impose upon her taxpayers the burdens of the London and Washington debt agreements if Germany is freed from reparations, and that in any case France will not pay more she receives.

His resolution declares that President Hoover, by his moratorium linked the German reparations pay ments and the debts of the former al-lies to America.

A movement to defer the debts dis-cussion developed tonight, but it remains to be seen how far its sponsors can carry it in the chamber. The gov-ernment meanwhile is silent.

Past records supported the belief that a democrat in the White House would be more inclined to grant favors to the democratic south which supported his campaign with votes and contributions of money. Cotton is the south's principal business.

Private statisticians turned to old records and found that in 1912, when Wilson was first elected president, cotton advanced 108 points in three weeks. They noted that in 1916, immediately after the re-election of Wilson, the last democratic president, cotton moved upward 184 points in two weeks.

FASCISM'S BIRTHDAY AWAITED WITH HOPE OF AMNESTY DECREE

ROME, Oct. 24.—(P)—Hundreds of families in Italy are awaiting the dawn of Friday in the hope that Mussolini, on the tenth anniversary of fascism, will announce a royal decree of amnesty for a part of the political prisoners now confined on two of the Lipari islands.

prisoners now confined on two of the Lipari islands.

Reports that this would be granted have been in circulation throughout Italy for some time.

There are now about 1.000 persons confined on the islands for political copspiracies against the government, for outbreaks against the regime, for membership in the communist party, and for other political charges.

Mussolini himself said that he would consider an amnesty at this time.

It is certain that, if an amnesty is granted, a great number of the captives will still be left on the island.

Among them probably will be two men who tried to assassinate Mussolini—General Zaniboni, who was seutenced to 30 years when he was discovered with his rifle trained on if duce from a hotel window, November 4, 1925, and Gino Lucetti, who threw a bomb at the prime minister's nutomobile September 11, 1926, and received a similar sentence

NO two faces are alike . . . but the body and its normal functions are alike. This is just why you may need S.S.S.—it aids in promoting normal body functions. This time-tested tonic has brought happiness and joy to thousands. To some it has meant freedom from pimples and boils . . . to others it has meant a restored appetite and improved digestion-to all it has meant greater vitality.

The reason of this is that S.S.S., in addition to being a valuable general tonic, has the special property of increasing the red-cells and restoring the hemoglobin content of the blood, when deficient.

The right amount of hemoglobin in the blood makes a vast difference in the way you feel and look.

pimples . . . boils tend to thrive when the system is in a run-down condition due to a deficiency of this vital hemoglobin, causing a lack of oxygen and an excess of poisonous carbon dioxide gas. even the appetite lags when there is not enough hemoglobin in the blood stream to give the system the oxygen it needs and to free it and digestion can function properly only when there is sufficient oxygen in the blood to "burn" the food consumed. A lack of oxygen may result in impaired nutrition . . . gas . . . abdominal discomfort . . .

Tree Crops Urged.

The governor declared that in most of the states east of the Mississippi it will undoubtedly be determined that somewhere between 10 and 20 per cent of existing farm acreage now used for agricultural crops should be abandoned as such and converted into tree crops.

He severely criticized President Hoover for statements made by the chief executive in his Des Moines address and turned his fire on the operation of the home loan bank bill.

He praised Representation of the bill which resulted in the act and Senator Black, of the same state, for introducing an amendment in the senate which increased funds for the operation of the plan from $100,000,-000 to $125,000,000.

Text of Speech

Following is the text of Governor Roosevelt's address:

Tonight climaxes a perfect day; or might say two perfect days.

As we were driving past a grade school some of the tots in the littlest end of the row wondered what it was all about. And one of the teachleaned over to one of them and : 'There's Mr. Roosevelt.' And little tot looked up to her and : 'Yes, but where's Mr. Hoover.'

The great warmth of your welcome reinforces the obvious fact that so far as carrying on a campaign to get votes, my visit to this state has not been necessary. However, the purpose of coming down here is not to get votes. My visit to the south to get votes. My visit to the south is to carry out the purposes of my trips to the west, to the coast and indeed throughout the country, which is not so much to be heard as to hear, and not so much to talk to you as to let you talk to me. It was only natural that in coming to the south I should have as an additiononly natural that in counts south I should have as an addition-al objective a visit to Warm Springs. where I have spent so many hours and where I have had the good for-tune to make so many friendships that I shall always cherish through

I have had the privilege many I have had the privilege many years ago of serving in a legislative body. In addition, for four years in the state of New York, faced by a legislature controlled by another party, I have had to meet this problem of the relationship between the executive and the legislature. I am confident after the 4th of March ext that the American people will confident after the 4th of Maren next that the American people will find a greater co-operation between these two great branches of government—a better relationship in which not only democrats but republicans as well will take part.

PRAISES GOVERNOR RUSSELL FOR BALANCING BUDGET.

I should like to take this opportunity to say, loud enough to be heard in Washington, that even in hard times it is possible to have a balanced budget, and Governor Russell has done it, and I want to say further that Governor Russell has done this by cutting expenditures rather than by loading the people with more taxation. And I want to say that loud enough to be heard in Washington, too.

And I want to say also, loud enough to be heard in that section of Washington in which the White House and the treasury are located, that Governor Russell did not wait for a political campaign to star considering how to get within his in

In spite of the rigid economy practised by Governor Russell, he has made excellent progress in his state highway system. He has moved with a sure intelligence in the direction toward the consolidation of the departments of state government. And he has also found it possible to promote a growing sense of responsibility of the people of the state towards social welfare and health work of all kinds.

I learn—and this I get not from Governor Russell but from welfare workers of the state—that he has been able by persuasive and co-operative action to get the local governments of this state to progress in the direction of the state. In spite of the rigid economy prac-erative action to get the progression of this state to progression of more efficient in the direction of more efficient, economical and humane administra-tion. This is a point where I want to make special reference to my own statements made many times in this campaign, that it is the duty of an executive to exercise his influence, even where he has no legal authority. to bring about economy in local government—economy that sacrifices no essential service to the people. no essential service to the people.

I come here at the beginning of a Community Chest campaign. I have already said that there are three things that chart the course of social ibility. First, the duty rests on the community to do everything in its power; that's why we have Community Chests. Then it is up to the state government. And then I made it clear that the final responsibility rests on the national govern-

SEEKS TO LIFT TAX LOAD FROM OVERBURDENED FARMS It is the duty of a chief executive, whether of state or national government, to utilize information in his possession and his many instrumen-talities for the promulgation of this If the governor of Georgia and the governor of New York can do this, the president of the United States can do it, and I have made that as the first and basic principle of lifting from the back of the farmer some of his load of taxation.

I wish that the government at Washington had followed this policy, because, while it has spent millions to gather information, it has been so confused by the mass of this in-formation that it has had no oppor-tunity to know what it all means. I believe that we ought to have in Washington a little less research and a little more thinking; fewer figures and more ideas; fewer commissions and more leadership. We ought to have less vacillation and more action.

Consistent with this idea of comprehensive planning and action prehensive planning and action rather than everlasting digging into statistical details. I wish to outline tonight the cardinal points in my agricultural program. Every coun-try or most countries do have a national program. It is to this end that I have suggested that our de partment of agriculture, while it has done many admirable things, has not been directed during this administration by any general comprehension of what a nationally planned acticultural program really is. The time has come to eliminate political secretaries of agriculture and to substitute for them a secretary whom the farmers and the foresters will recognize as one of their own. We are certainly paying enough for the department of agriculture to get something more useful than we are now getting.

I have already proposed its re-

I have already proposed its reorganization. I am going to insist that we get more service for the farmers for less money.

The first principle of my agricultural program I have already mentioned. It consists in lifting from the back of the farmer some of the crushing buyden of taxation that he ising burden of taxation that he is

IMPROVEMENT IS SOUGHT IN MORTGAGE SITUATION.

The second also I have already mentioned. It relates to the farmer's burden of debt. One of the basic planks in my farm platform is that the situation with regard to farm mortgages be improved to the advanto ward off foreclosure and eject-ment from his home. I have made that clear in detail, not only at To-peka, but last week in Springfield. I have called attention to the necestage of the farmer who is struggling have called attention to the neces-sity of constructive action in this connection; and in Springfield I said that the seven or more unco-rdinated activities of the government with reference to farm mort-gages be brought into a complete harmonious plan, consistent with the harmonious plan, consistent with the general farm program that I have been discussing.

The situation that exists with reference to the foreclosure of mortgages by the land banks is one that has not only aroused my sincere sympathy, but has inspired within me a determination to fight for a practical remedy. The president of the United States in his Des Moines speech stated that the administration speech stated that the administration has endeavored to provide by appropriating $125,000,000 to purchase additional stock in the federal land banks of the system. It is only fair to say that the bill appropriating funds to purchase additional stock in the federal land bank was introluced in the house of representatives by a democratic representative from the state of Alabama, Mr. Stegall; the state of Alabama, Mr. Stegall; and in the senate the ambunt was increased from $100,000,000 to $125.-000,000 by an amendment offered by another democrat from the state of Alabama, Senator Hugo Black. However, the administration of the funds thus appropriated was necessarily left entirely to the appointees of this administration, and the farmers of America have been justly disappointed in the manner in which it has been administered.

PRESIDENT IS ATTACKED

FOR STAND ON MORTGAGES. At Des Moines, the president stated that not more than 1 per cent of the mortgages held by the land banks were being foreclosed. Percentages may mislead one. The farmers of the United States know that today thousands of mortgages upon the farms of the United States are being fore-closed. The president stated that most of those mortgages now being foreclosed represented cases where the farmers were willing to have such mortgages foreclosed. I think I know the mind and the heart of the American farmer, and it is inconceivable to me that the president of the Unit-ed States can believe that the farm-ers of the United States are willing and anxious to have foreclosed the nortgages upon their homes in which their fathers and mothers lived and died and in which their children were It is common sense, and no opinion that these farmers are willing to be driven from their homes we cannot hope for any enthusiastic action upon his part to stop the fore-closures. I know that the last thing ipon earth that a farmer wants is to be foreclosed, to give up his hon and it will be our aim to provide practical and immediate remedy for the intolerable situation now existing.

Another principle of farm relief is to make it possible for the farmer to get a larger return for his product I believe that we owe it to the farm ers of America to have as secretary of agriculture an agricultural leader instead of a political leader.

HIGHER FARM PRICES BASIC PART OF PROGRAM.

A basic purpose of my farm program is to raise prices on certain gram is to raise prices on certain agricultural products by some form of what the farmers of this country know as a tariff benefit. There is nothing mysterious about this and nothing visionary. It is recognized by the leaders not only of agriculture but of the industrial world as well that this is a perfectly sound method; in fact, it is one of the essential methods to lead agriculture out of the present depression, and thus to lead to restoration of industry as well.

I want to make one point very

I want to make one point very clear, both in the case of readjust-ment of the tariff so that the farmer will really get a benefit, and in the temporary measures that I propose to be used before that becomes operative, the increase in price does not, as in the case of Mr. Hoover's farm board, come out of the public treas-board, come out of the public treasury.

The American people know that as a result of this experiment of Mr. Hoover, $500,000,000 of the money of the taxpayers was squandered; large surpluses of wheat, cotton, tobacco, were accumulated which hung over the markets like a sword, depressing the price of these basic agricultural products.

Though this was apparent to all thoughtful men, and though bills were pending to correct the situation and prevent these ruinous so-called stabilization operations, absolutely nothing was done by the president or the party in power in a legislative way to prevent it.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

POSITION ON FARM BOARD. The democratic party in its plat-form declares:
"We condemn the extravagance of We condemn the extravagance of the farm board, its disastrous ac-tion which made the government a speculator of farm products and the unsound policy of restricting agri-cultural products to the demands of domestic markets."

This has had this splendid ef-fect of causing an awakening in the

This has had this splendid effect of causing an awakening in the White House and forced the president, for political expediency, in the closing days of a campaign, to confess this abject failure of his experiments, and to promise that after the election he will see what can be done to put an end to these false stabilization operations of which the nation complains and by which the farmers have been destroyed.

The great manufacturing and busination complains and by which the farmers have been destroyed.

The great manufacturing and business centers of our country have compended to realize that their own prosperity depends upon the prosperity of the agricultural centers of the country, and the purchasing power of its people. It is now well known, in fact even by the republican leaders, although they refrain from discussing the subject, that the depression in the manufacturing industry of the country is due chiefly to the fact that agricultural products generally have been selling below the cost of production, and thereby destroyed the purchasing power in the domestic market of nearly half of all of our people. We are going to restore the purchasing power of the farmer.

STATES EAST OF MISSISSIPPI

For over a year I have discussed with leading democrats, incl. Governor Russell, the broad sub-ject of land use, especially as it applies to the older states east of the Mississippi. The problem of these older states is in most cases identical, pecause in the rush many generations ago to settle the land millions of acres were cleared for agricultural purposes where they should have been left to produce forest crops.

You and I know that in very You and I know that in very many sections of New York and other states, this type of land has proved unproductive, and has either been abandoned as farms or is today being cultivated at a loss.

That is why I am a believer just as much in country planning as I am in city planning. It is time for every one of the older states to survery their entire acreage for the pur-very their entire acreage for the pur pose of determining the best future use of the land. In most of the states east of the Mississippi, it un-doubtedly will be determined that somewhere between 10 and 20 per cent of existing farm acreage nov used for agricultural crops should be abandoned as such and converted into use for tree crops.

Everyone knows that we are usin are willing to face a day not so far distant when we shall become a nation dependent on imporcing the greater part of our lumber from other er nations, we must take immediate er nations, we must take immediate steps greatly to increase our home supply

REFORESTATION A BUSINESS

It is common sense, and not fan-tasy, to invest money in tree crops just as much as to grow annual ag-ricultural crops. The return on the investment is just as certain in the case of growing trees as it is in the case of growing potatoes, or cotton, or wheat, or corn—and judging by present-day fluctuations in the prices of agricultural crops the tree crop is often a safer investment.

Because we are a young nation—because apparently limitless forests have stood at our door, we have declined up to now to think of the future. Other nations whose primeval forests were cut off a thousand years ago have been growing tree crops for many hundreds of years.

I am convinced that herein lies a fertile field, not only for the legitimate investment of capital, but also for the employment of labor.

REFORESTATION NOT A JOB OF SETTING OUT SEEDLINGS.

There are, of course, a few child ish minds who think of reforestation or the growing of tree crops as a process of setting out little seedling trees which have been grown in nurseries. Anybody who has advanced beyond the kindergarten stage knows better. Almost all practical commercial reforestation is in its origin an act of nature and not of man. The winds of heaven carry the man. The winds of heaven carry the seeds from trees that have already come to maturity, scatter them over the ground, and the warm earth and the rain and the sun do the rest. The use of the labor of man enters into the picture when it becomes necessary to eliminate the less valuable types of trees among the young growth, to cull out the crooked trees.

the decayed trees or the undergrowing trees and to prevent ravages of fire in the growing forests. These are things which any beginner in agriculture or in forestry should know, and, I may add, are things which my secretary of agriculture will know.

Let us remember that the federal government owns hundreds of thousands of acres of so-called national forest along the chain of the Appalachian system. We all know that a large part of this national forest consists of second growth, third growth or fourth growth, cut-over land, which is now growing up, like Topsy, into a heterogeneous conglomeration of all kinds of treessome good, some bad and some indifferent.

MAN'S AID IS NEEDED IN REFORESTATION WORK.

We also know, as a practical matter, that unless something is done with this land the timber on it will have comparatively little value when it comes to maturity. It needs the aid of man to clear out the dead wood and encourage only the growth that will best serve the national need in the days to come. Is there any good reason, financial, common sense, or otherwise, why the federal government should not undertake the proper care of its own property? proper care of its own property? Here again is another field for the employment of great numbers of our

This afternoon an agriculture-for-This afternoon an agriculture-for-estry committee conferred with me on the vital necessity of a national agricultural policy. Here are two short paragraphs from its report which are worth hearing in every home in the land:

"The basic economic interest, ag-riculture, which includes forestry, is riculture, which includes forestry, is prostrated, carrying with it the superstructure of finance and industry; but far more than these is the destruction of human values—those human values which in reality are the spirit of America—the reason for the vision of its founders.

"Results are the expression of causes. When there is starvation of spirit and body in a land of abundant natural resources, a land of plenty, no further evidence is needed of failure of the powers entrusted with control of government."

REHABILITATION OF FARMS REHABILITATION OF FARMS

PEOPLE FOREMOST.

PEOPLE FOREMOST.

That last sentence will express the deep understanding which the great majority of voters of this nation have of the principal issue of this national campaign.

During these weeks I have made it abundantly clear that I propose a national agricultural policy which will direct itself not only to the better use of our hundreds of millions of acres of every type of land in the United States, but also to the rehabilitation of that half of our population which is living on or directly concerned with the products of the soil.

Our object must be the rebuilding of the rural civilization of America. Our object must be all-inclusive—a our object must be all-inclusive—a constructive program attacking the enemy on every front.

Opposed to this constructive program is the administration's doctrine of despair. The president, in his speech of acceptance, preached this doctrine of despair to the suffering farmers of the country. He said in substance that the farmer must wait the long weary process of industrial reconstruction before aid can come to him. He attempted to close the door of hope with that doctrine of despair. In fact, since the very beginning of this depression, he has opposed substantially every proposal of the farm leaders of this country for legislative relief, and sometimes with the greatest and most unbecoming bitterness.

HOOVER'S OPPOSITION

TO RELIEF PLANS SCORED. After concealing from the people of the country the constantly sinking condition of industry and growing unemployment, he opposed the demo-cratic measures introduced in con-gress to meet destitution and give employment to labor. He still con-tended, as he does now, that there is no hope for the farmer or the laborer until prosperity returns through the slow process of world re-Whenever a remedy is proposed to increase the price of farm products or reduce unemployment in our country, he satisfied himself by engaging in ridicule and preaching the doctrine of deapair. I do not believe in the doctrine of despair.

Now, my friends, let me make clear in as emphatic words as I can find, the fundamental issue in this campaign. Mr. Hoover believes that farmers and workers must wait for general recovery, until some miracle occurs by which the factory wheels revolve again. No one knows the formula of this miracle. I, on the other hand, am saying over and over that I believe that we can reover that I believe that we can restore prosperity here in this country by re-establishing the purchasing power of half of the people of the country, that when this gigantic market of 50,000.000 people is able to purchase goods, industry will start to turn, and the millions of men and women now walking the atreets will be employed.

ROOSEVELT DECLARES

FOR AMERICA FIRST. I am, moreover, enough of an American to believe that such a American to believe that such a restoration of prosperity in this country will do more to effectuate world recovery than all of the promotional schemes of leading money to backward and crippled countries could do in generations. In this respect I am for America first.

This doctrine I set forth when my campaigneed the promote that the promote in the promote that the programment of the progr

This doctrine I set forth when my campaig: really began back in April. I said in a speech then that we had forgotten this potential market of the agricultural population, and that the true interest of this country was to return to this forgotten market. We have, as in the old story of the Holy Grail, looked beyond the seas for the riches that were lying unnoticed at our very feet.

When we come to recognize this simple fact, when we get back to plain common sense, when we stop worshipping false gods and chasing rainbows, happiness and prosperity will come to American workers and farmers and businessmen—to the American people. unnoticed at our very feet.

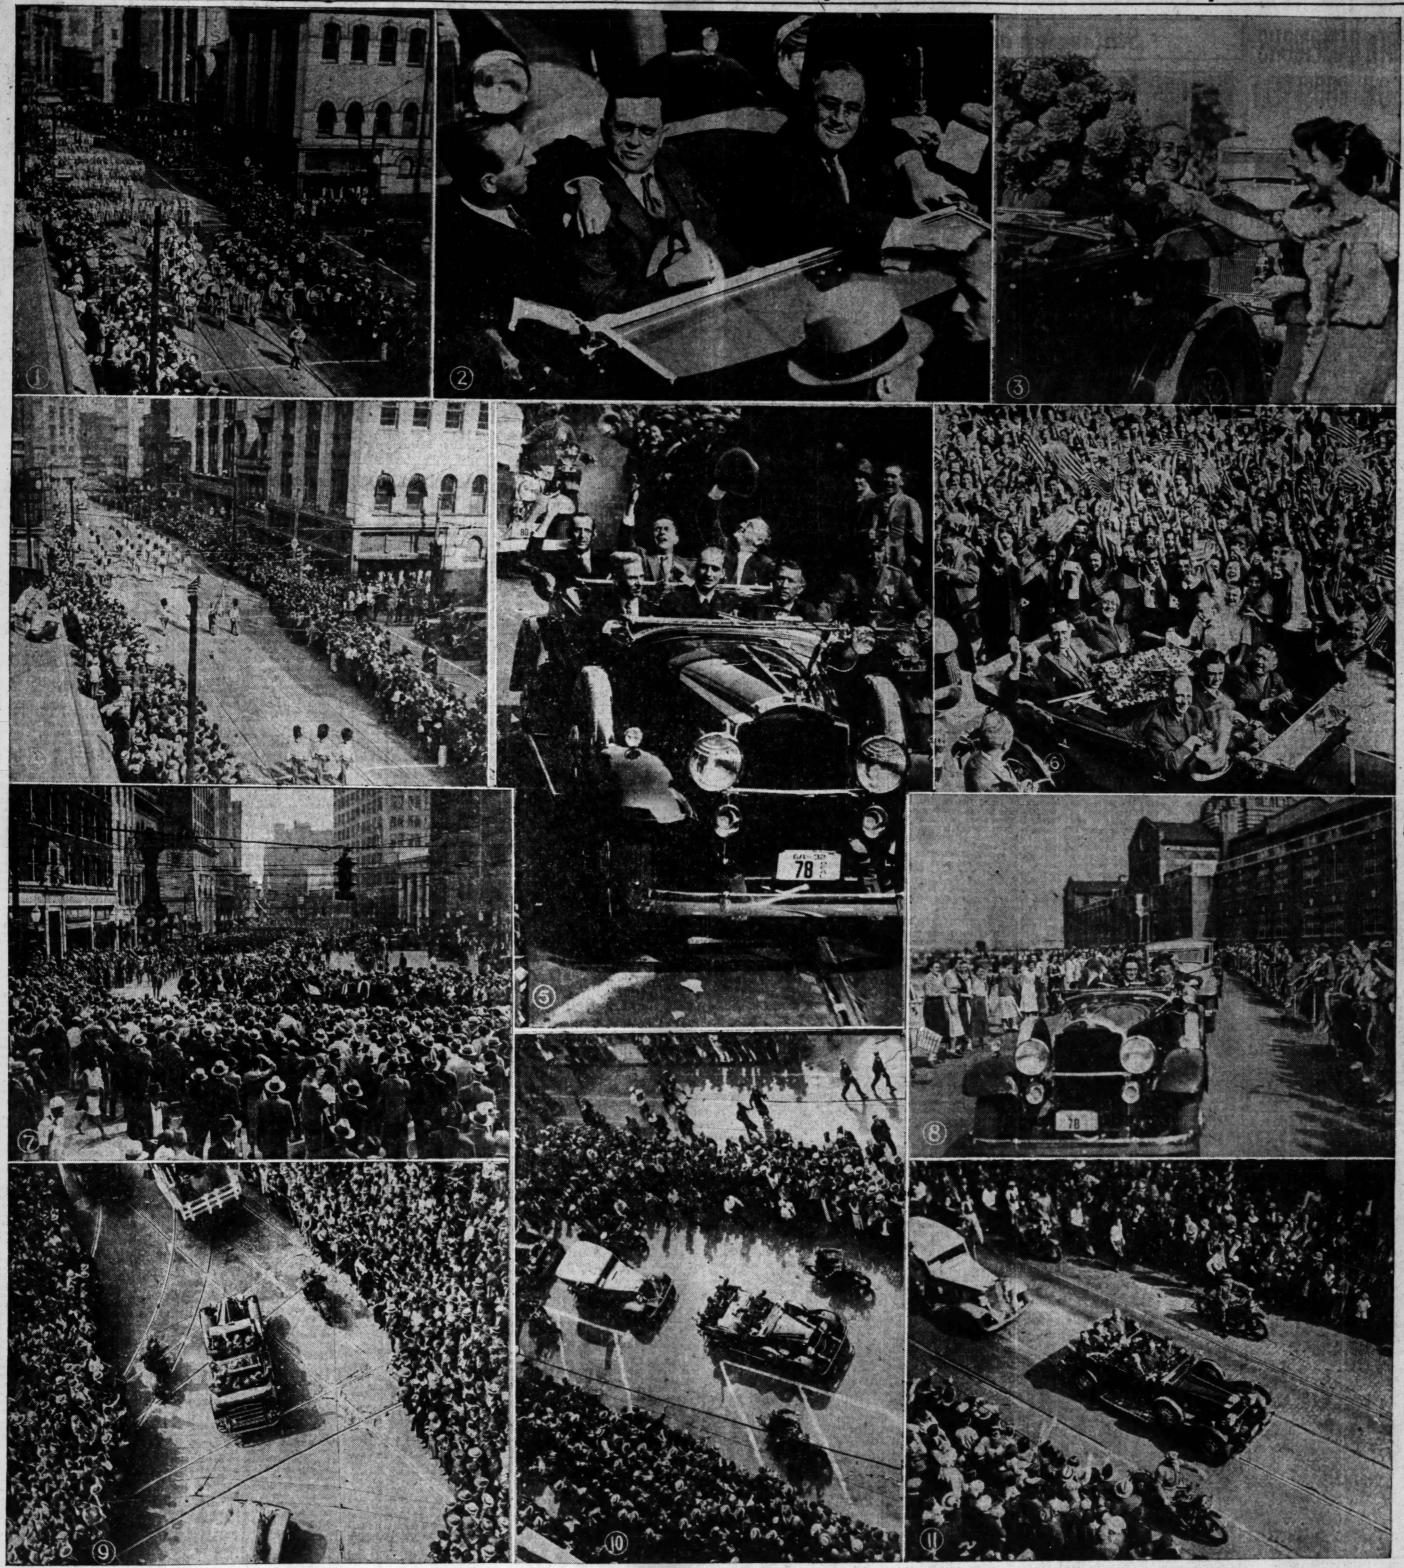

farmers and businessmen—to the American people.

When we stop listening to the apology that "things might have been worse" and give our whole-hearted support to those who preach the gospel that through action they are going to make things better, then and then only will America resume her march to a better day.

As All Atlanta Fought Good-Naturedly to Get Glimpse of Roosevelt's Triumphant March

Above is a pictorial history of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's triumphant march Monday through the heart of Atlanta. Crowds estimated at 200,000 persons lined the sidewalks, stood in the streets, perched in office building windows, sat atop high buildings or gathered at school buildings to add their cheers in the epoch-making parade in which the city gave a vociferous welcome to the democratic standard bearer. Atlanta's largest parade crowd formed the welcoming committee. Banked 30 deep in many places, it was impossible for many would-be spectators to get good views, and becoming restless and wishing to add to the general din and wild disorder accompanying the demonstration they surged into the streets. Many times cordons of police were forced to take a hand to clear the path for the official cars to worm their way through the mass of seething humanity. had quite a time retting to the place had quite a time getting to the place and a harder time getting away. Well, we are four years older, but we are certainly at least 40 years wiser. In 1928, as we partly at the wiser. In 1928, as we partly at the time, but thoroughly realized afterwards, we were waging an important fight. Not the least element that operated against us to the last degree was the great republican boast that that particular party had a patent on business prosperity, that they were responsible for its production, and that they alone could continue it. When my mind goes back and I think of the rosy promises, I can imagine how easy it was for a great public to fall for it, that there would lie to fall for it, that there would

He is indorsed by Dr. Rowland, editor of the Virginia Christian Advocate. Bishop Richardson, representing the Anti-Saloon League, also indorsed him, and that indorsement is published in the organ of the Ku Klux Klan, known as the Fellowship Forum.

Incidentally, that brings something back to my mind. The Fellowship Forum in 1928 was not only the active organ of the Klan, but it was encouraged by the republican national committee. When a lady from the New York World went to the republican headquarters in

MABEL'S WINE SERVICE WAS "SOME STUNT."
I think these nice fruit growers should have paid for these competent services secured from Mabel.
She did two things for them, two wonderful things: No. 1, she convinced the department of justice that this 12 per cent wine weened in. there are some opinions taken from some of our more or less prominent citizens about it. and there was a former resident of New York by the name of Legs Diamond who was asked what he thought about it, and here is what he said. HYPOCRISY, DECEIT, DOUBLE-DEALING CHARGED, Well, you know you can get away with that for a certain length of time. And, in order to show you how quick the worm can turn, the same Methodist conference that she addressed in Ohio, presumably in the interest of temperance, held a meeting and deplored the fact that the woman whose voice had been so eloquently raised before the nation in support of what they call temper-woman whose voice had been so eloquently raised before the nation in support of what they call temperance, but what they call temperance, but what they call temper to the liquor traffic by being counsel for the Fruit Industries, Inc., of California. Well, finally it got a little bit too hot even for the department of justice. And they finally raided one of Mabel's clients, And the attorney-general made the decision that her wine bricks were not kosher. They were like all the rest of them, a violation of the law. On listening into the national convention of the democratic party at Chicago, I heard a husky Texan rise in his place and cast the 40 votes of Texas for a wet platform—and I lost Texas for a wet platform—and I lost Texas because of prohibition.

Now, there is the history. And for hypocrisy, for deceit, for double-dodging, double-dealing and double-crossing, it probably has nothing to equal it in all the annals of American history. Let us take a look at the platform. The democratic plank on prohibition consists of about 50 or 60 words. The republican plank is half a page. But I will read only two little sections: No. 1, "We do not favor a submission limited to the issue of retention or repeal." What does that mean? That means that they will not limit the issue only for submitting it to the American people, to the question of repeal. Nothing could be plainer than that. They did not have to say it in the platform. If you want my private opinion of the fellow that put it in there, I would put him in the bonehead class.

I wrote that plank. No man on the committee of resolutions worked harder to or put more energy into putting it into the platform than the commissioner of public safety of this city, who was talking on the platcity, who was talking on the platform a while ago.

Well, it is the old story—history repeats itself, ducking and dodging. I remember a funny little story connected with the 1928 campaign. When Little Willie was going to bed at night, he had a little bedtime conversation with his father and he said: "Father, I see that Senator Borah was out west and said that prohibition was the paramount issue of the campaign, but Judge Hughes was talking in New York, and Judge Hughes said that prohibition was a sham battle. Now, papa, which of them is right?" And his father said: "Well, they are both right. Senator Borah was talking out in dry territory and Judge Hughes was talking in wet territory."

tory and Judge Hughes was talking in wet territory."

Then Little Willie looked up at his father and he said: "Papa, what is the meaning of political honesty?"
And his father said: "Go to bed, Willie. Don't be asking so many questions."

The result of it all has been just this: The democratic platform plank has put the democratic party in the bright light of intelligent understanding on the part of the intelligent original light of intelligent understand-ing on the part of the intelligent people throughout the United States and it leaves the republican party to-day where it was in 1928—the part of bigotry, of deceit and of hypoc-of bigotry, of deceit and of hypocracy.

What brought this on so fast? We have been discussing this question for about 20 years. I wrote memoranda against prohibition as far back as in 1923, and I spoke against it. What brought it on so fast? The economic condition. It came and hit the people of America between the eyes, and there has been more accomplished on that side of it than there was talking on the moral side of it in all the five years that preceded the last year.

of it in all the five years that preceded the last year.

The American people have awakened to find out that our first families, our society people and our speakeasies of high and low character are dealing with bootleggers.

The bootlegger is waxing fat. No revenues are coming in to the government. The sale of this stuff is going on all over the country in every state of the Union. The bootlegger is cheating his Uncle Sam.
He pays no income taxes. He does a cash business. There is no way of checking him up. Meanwhile, the wise sages of the government in Washington are tossing out the window the billions of dollars that could be legitimately taken from this traffic and they are rooting around the ferrill comboard and in the small dow the billions of collars that could be legitimately taken from this traffic and they are rooting around the family cupboard and in the small business store and in the big accounting house trying to find enough money in taxation to keep the government roing ernment going.

I ran across this only yesterday "Tax yield rises, but falls short of the estimate." Up to a couple of days ago we were only five hundred million dollars overboard. We have to find up to date five hundred million. Watch that figure grow. By the time congress gets ready to passome more nuisance taxes it will probably be a billion.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SETTLE QUESION.

TO SETTLE QUESION.

Then we are going through the senseless performance down there of increasing the income tax at a time when nobody has an income. They absolutely forget, going back to the elementary principles of mathematics that twice nothing is nothing.

Now, I confess that political issues are confusing to the average mind. Few people understand the intricate question of taxes. Few people understand our foreign relations, our foreign debts, or any inter-governmental debts, but everybody, even the children in high school, distincternmental debts, but everybody, even the children in high school, distinctly understand that the eighteenth amendment did not prohibit and the Volstead act did not prevent, and that conditions are worse today than they were before the evactment of this amendment, and that the federal government and the various governments of the states are getting absolutely no revenue from it. If you think that children don't understand it, why, when I was down in Florida it, why, when I was down in Florida
I went across to West Palm Beach to visit an old lady, who came from the old neighborhood in New York and who had gone there to live with her daughter. She told me that her grandchildren could spot the airplanes that children could spot the airplanes that were bringing the booze over from the Bahama Islands every night, and Florida is supposed to be dry. Now this is the time to settle that Now this is the time to settle that question. Let me impress upon my listeners in every part of this country that if you do not settle this question on the 8th of November there is no use of gathering in solemn conclave and harassing the government. It won't get you any place. Now is the time to settle it, and it must be settled by the election of democratic congressmen, because they are the ones, under the platform, that are pledged to this reform. The republicans are on the string—they are on the loose. They can do whatever they like about it.

Touching on the reception given him here, the nominee asserted that "if I should judge by crowds I would say that the city of Atlanta is decidedly a Roosevelt city. Evidently the size of the families in this section has not been affected by the recent republican the research."

"Seriously speaking," the nominee went on, "I have been through many campaigns and I am not swayed by the crowds. But I can tell from the manner of the crowds that have greeted me that we are going to win. It is in the air."

"Truly Great American."

In introducing Governor Roosevelt, Senator Cohen said the nominee "is a man who holds a place in the heart of Georgia held by no man in my lifetime. He is not an easterner, he is not a northerner, he is not a south-erner, nor a westerner, but an Ameri-

The only speaker in addition to Governor Roosevelt and Senator Cohen was Walker S. Buel. correspondent for the Cleveland Plain-Dealer, who is president of the Gridiron Club, an organization of capitol correspondents. Mr. Buel spoke for the newspapermen accompanying Governor Roosevelt.

See if you can find one great big public question that has been settled by the present republican administration. See if you can find one great big public question that they made a reasonably good attempt to settle. Instead of that, we received a program of threat that if the republican party is defeated the return of prosperity will be retarded. I deny that, and I deny it emphatically, and I state from this platform to my nationwide audience that the election of the democratic ticket is the best way to solve these problems and the best way to solve these problems and the best way to bring back prosperity—the election of Roosevelt and Garner.

In looking through the speeches of my republican opponent in 1928, looking for something that made an argument—I was hungry for argument—I was anxious for it. But what did we hear? And, incidentally, you heard it in Newark: the reading of the reports of the department of commerce telling the number of new telephones installed, the number of miles of electric wires, the great growth of business, and all put to the credit of the republican party that was supposed to have produced that prosperity, and promised to continue it. And that last straw, the very last straw that broke the camel's back, was when the candidate for president claimed for the republican party credit for the increased number of children in the republican party credit for the in-creased number of children in the Thirty years ago the now famous old "Loud" mine in Georgia's gold belt near Dahlonega was rich in diggings. A nugget weighing about six pennyweight was found and Robert Meadows came into possession of it.

Meadows, now about 60, beamed, and in the excitement of giving the nugget to Roosevelt became so nerv-very much about this country. Let us be very frank about it. They very much about this country. Let us be very frank about it. They were not thinking of any progressive measures for improving the government of the country or, incidentally, any service that it could give to its people. They were interested in themselves. They were interested in their pocketbooks. Their vote was a selfish vote.

And if the fire that was gone through, the chastening fire that followed the paralysis of business and lowed the paralysis of business and industry, with unemployment close in its wake—if it taught us one thing, it has taught us that in the future and for many years to come no candidate for public office will dare to stand on the platform any place in the United States and claim, the credit for any political party for the cycles, the economic cycles of business depression and husiness. business depression and business rally. Well, there is nothing new. Everything you do, after all, is just history repeating itself. Here we have the republican cabinet officers. They are the advance guard. They are out in the front row. Here we have them all out at the present time promising to restore something that they could not hold when they had it. I wonder if any of them really realize that the attitude of the rank and file of the people of this country in a short period of time has completely changed with respect to the 18th amendment. I am not sure that they have, and I am going to speak about it.

Incidentally, I will compare, in the course of my remarks, the true platforms, so that we may under-stand definitely just what the two parties promise, and why there parties promise, and why there is such a vast difference. It is a diffi-cult thing to get into your mind how easy it is to fool so many peo-ple, but it has been done with such success in the past, that I think we are all coming around gradually to the belief that Barnum probably

BOTH PARTIES DODGED PROHIBITION IN 1928.

In 1928 both parties—both parties, ducked the prohibition issue. They were both afraid of it. The democratic party wasn't a bit better than the republican party. They both laid the republican party. They both laid down, in fear of the consequence had they taken a decided step looking to revision or repeal of the eighteenth revision or repeat of the eighteenth amendment.

Let us go back and see what happened. Do you remember my telegram to the convention at Houston defining my attitude? I was advised to hold that telegram back, not to send it until the convention was adjourned. I insisted that that telegram be read to the convention before its adjournment, so that if the convention was not satisfied with my attitude on prohibition, they could reconsider the vote by which they nominated me, and to nominate could reconsider the vote by which they nominated me, and to nominate somebody else. I think that the record pretty clearly indicates that I did not dodge it. I did not duck it: I went into it head-on. As a result of that, after the conventio over, there sprung up all over the country a widespread opposition to me because of that telegram, which we all found out afterwards nothing more or less than a cloak r bigotry. Well, we will always have some people in this country who have nothing to think with. I understand that and appreciate it fully, and in my time I have helped as many of that kind of people as any living man. I thought for them. But what I found particular fault with was that the republican party with was that the republican party with its money, its power and its influence, incited and paid and encouraged that spirit of bigotry. They should have discouraged it, but it meant votes and it meant dissension within the

and it meant dissension within the democratic ranks, and it is a matter of record that it was encouraged.

The chairman tonight mentioned the name of a lady who had a large part in putting before the country the republican attitude with respect to that and, with a great deal of respect for her, I desire to have a little something to say about the career of Mabel Walker Willebrandt. SHOWS G. O. P. FOSTERED INTOLERANCE WHISPERS.

Do you remember the time that

Do you remember the time that she appeared before the Methodist conference in Ohio and urged the conference in Ohio and urged the Methodist ministers to go out and preach to their people to bring about my defeat? That was on the theory that I had spoken against the 18th amendment. We know why it was. Here is what she said: "There are 2,000 Methodists here. You have in your churches more than 600,000 members of the Methodist church in Ohio alone. That is enough to swing the election. The 600,000 have friends in other states. Write to them every day. And every ounce of your energy is needed to arouse the friends of prohibition to register and vote."

A direct appeal. Well, what hap-register and vote."

A direct appeal. Well, what happened? When the campaign was allover and Mabel was being put on the shelf, the republican party was the shelf, the republican party was pot quick or spontaneous in the reward for her questionable services. So she wrote a little book. And she said, down deep in her heart, "I will get hunk on them." And here is what she said in the book. Speaking about the speech, she says, "I made it at the request of the republican national committee and not as a free lance; in fact, I wired the committee asking twice to be excused from making the speech. But I was urged by the republican national committee in two telegrams which I still have in my files." So the real fact is, that that speech did not sit so well on Mabel's conscience.

But she found it necessary after the campaign was over and the election.

the campaign was over and the el tion was won, to explain that she was not there in her personal ca-pacity but she was there speaking for the republican national committee. She further said that every single line—every line—was edited by the republican national committee before she made the speech. Well what happened? Naturally a speech of that kind brought a great wave of protest from liberal minded people inside of both parties. And she was repudiated by some of the progressive thinking leaders of her own party. Senator Edge, of New Jersey, into the protection of the progressive thinking leaders of her own party. sey, not in so many words, but in thought, said: "Keep her out of Jer

Well, what was the answer of the republican national committee? How did they receive the protests that came from all parts of the country and from all kinds of people? Why, they received them this way: New York York newspapers, September 2 1928: "Mrs. Willebrandt will co.

AGAINST THE MIDDLE.

So that so far as the Willebrandt incident is concerned, let it be read into the political history of this country that what she did she did at the behest of the republican national committee, and the bigotry and the intolerance that arose throughout the country because of her remarks can be directly charged to that political committee. Do you remember the cartoon by Rollin Kirby which stirred so many people? He had a picture of that terrible looking fellow that he calls prohibition, that stove-pipe hat, and the battered umbrella and that terthe battered umbrella and that terribly cadaverous look, and he was holding out his hands and on his hand Mabel was standing with the blazing torch of bigotry and intolerance. Well, four years make quite a change in the picture. The republication of Chicago, with erance. Well, four years make quite a change in the picture. The republican convention at Chicago, with characteristic hypocracy and, I add, characteristic stupidity, attempted to face both ways on the prohibition question. They tried to hold out a sop to the wets and a little bone to the drys, so that they could again repeat the performance of 1928 and try to have everybody with them. repeat the performance of 1928 and try to have everybody with them. And had it not been for the office-holders who were amenable to the influence of the White House, who were delegates to that republican convention at Chicago, that convention would have handed the United States of America as clear-cut a wet platform as did the democratic national convention. But what did they run up against? They ran up against Herbert Hoover, who is himself the leader of the dry forces today in the United States.

You see how the things work double. The platform in 1928 dodged. Hoover tried to fix it up in his speech of acceptance and whispering over the fellows in the high hat, and he said: "It is a noble experiment." Now, he wanted to get the liberal fellows in the city, he wanted all the golf players with him. And he turned around to them and he said: "But there are things about it that are not all right and I will appoint a commission to study it." Well, both-groups left the convention. The drys went into a huddle and they said: "He called it a noble experiment." Then his friends among the wets said: "That was just to calm them down; he is going to do something about it because he says it is not all right." WICKERSHAM COMMISSION UNANIMOUSLY WET.

And he appointed the commission. It cost a half million dollars. They brought in a report, and 10 out of 11 of them said that prohibition was an absolute failure, that it did not prohibit. Ten out of 11 of them wanted something done to it right away. Several were for complete assassination. Others were for modification. One fellow wanted to give it another trial for a little longer and less than six months after he it another trial for a little longer and less than six months after he asked for that, he took a plea and said: "I guess I better had be with the majority." So that the whole 11 of them would be against it. What did the president do, after all that study and all that expenditure? He just quietly pigeon-holed it and said nothing about it and thought nothing about it, and then he stopped the republican national convention from taking a clear-cut stand. Is there any doubt that he is the leader today? Wait until you hear who indorsed him. Daniel Poling, president of the Allied Forces and editor of the Christian Herald and general secretary of the Chris-the republican headquarters in Washington and said: "Where can Washington and said: "Where can we get some of these newspapers that attack Al Smith and the pone?" the young secretary said: "We haven't any here, but come with me." He got into her automobile and brought her around to the head-quarters of the Fellowship Forum and there she got all she wanted. Well, let us get back to Mabel for a little while. As the saying goes, "Up in Mabel's room." After the victory in 1928, what became of Mabel? She was smart. I gave her great credit. She was foxy. She didn't wait for the revolution to come. A cute for the revolution to come. A cute little position as chief counsel of the Fruit Industries, Inc., of California. Now, this group of fruit growers dug up a great engineer some place wonderful things: No. 1. she convinced the department of justice that this 12 per cent wine was not intoxicating. That is some stunt. When you figure that old uncle Audy Volsteud fixed it at 1-2 of 1 per cent. and still robbed it of any intoxicating matter. She did something else for them which is equally important. She got the farm board to lend them $20,000,000. There is no doubt about that. It was all published in the papers. Let us look at what the papers said about it at the time. Senator Copeland, speaking before the United States senate, said that the republican party paid its debt in what way? Declared that her concentrated grape juice was all right and did not violate the law, and then loaned them $20,000,000. But the director of prohibition bureau in Washington said that there was a billion dollars' worth of this wine made with a 12 1-2 per cent alcoholic content. So that when all is said and done, Mabel collected a beautiful big fee to make the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment just look like 30 cents. Well, there still had to be something done. And on Friday. August 7. 1931, the New York papers carried a big headline that out in open court, right in the trial of a suit, the charge was made, and went unchallenged, that her particular cleint was going free from prosecution at the hands of the department of justice. And incidentally, there are some opinions taken from some of our more or less prominent

MEANS NOTHING.
There is no reason for saying it, although that is what they mean.
Now, this, however, is the important fact: "Members of the republican party hold different opinions with respect to it and no public official or member of the party should be pledged or forced to choose between his party affiliations and his earnest convictions upon this question." What does that mean? That means that while the party declares it as fundamental principle, no candidate is pledged to it. He can do any-thing he likes. That is exactly what that means. It is an empty what that means. It is an empty declaration. It does not mean anything. It was not intended to mean anything. It was put in there with cold-blooded deliberation so that they could come out afterwards and say could come out afterwards and say in the various congressional districts: "I am not bound by that. My plat-form distinctly and specifically ab-solves me from any adherence again to any declaration against the 18th amendment." That is what it was put in there for and that is exactly what it means. hat it means. And I will show you that is what it means. The dry forces met in the state of New York last week and they indorsed eight congressmen —all above the Bronx line. It is not necessary for me to tell you, but not necessary for me to tell you, but in order to get the record straight, all eight of them were above the Bronx, and it is noteworthy that all eight of them were indorsed by the dry forces of New York. Why? Because the dry forces had read that section of the platform and they knew that these men are not bound by it and that when they go down to Washington they can do as they please about it. Consequently, it is easy for them to receive the approval of the Anti-Saloon League. the 'omen's Christian Temperance Union, the Ku Klux Klan, the Meth-odist conference and the aggregation of bigots that make up what they call the dry forces. At that, at best it would take a couple of years to repeal or amend or supplement that 18th amendment. Meanwhile, what about the power of congress to amend the Volstead act and give us

Now, let us go back and look at Now, let us go back and look at the democratic platform. The demo-cratic national convention is speak-ing to the people of the United States, and no political party dur-ing my time on any particular is-sue spoke more plainly and more definitely than the democratic party spoke from that convention in Chi-cago when it said: "We favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. To effect such repeal we demand congress immediately provide a con-stitutional amendment of duly repstitutional amendment of duly representative conventions in states, called to act solely on that proposal. We urge the enactment of such measures by the several states as will effectually promote temperance and effectually retard the return of the saloon and bring the liquor traffic into the open, under complete supervision and under the control of the states. The trust company, in a petition filed in surrogate's court, asked that letters of temporary administration be granted pending the birth of a child to Reynolds' widow.

Belief was expressed in the petition that probate of Reynolds' will, which leaves $50,000 each to his first wife, their daughter, and Ab Walker, a friend, and divides the rest among his brother and two sisters, should be held in abeyance "in order that such child (Libby Holman's), if properly born, may be properly represented."

I do not think anybody can speak about that with any better personal understading of it than I have. There is another thing I want to say in New Jersey. The people of this state should elect a democratic legislature to hold up the hands of fovernor Moare in his efforts to reorganize the archaic government of the state. I do not think anybody can speak about that with any better personal understading of it than I have. I battled for it in New York against a republican legislature, and had it not been for the fact I went back to Albany so many times that it looked like I was a civil service employe and could only be removed on charges, I never would have got it done. Under the constitution of New Jersey no governor succeeds himself, and unless he accomplishes it in three years he has got to stay out three before he can come back and tackle it again, and if you want the governor by and greater economy in its engagement, if you want it brought down to date and made modern the way the business organizations are made throughout the country, hold in the hands of your governor by and greater economy in its engagement, if you want it brought down to date and made modern the way the business organizations are made throughout the country, hold in the hands of your governor by date and the reception here is typing from one coast to the ablance and the reception for one coast to the ablance and the reception of our country is the hands of your governor by a country is the proper of the hand

Sabandoned liquor, passersby in the vicinity gave chase to the fleeing negro, who darted into a nearby alley and captured "the fugitive after a chase of several minutes. The pursuing policemen, Motorcycle Officers Herman Clay and J. S. Tuggle, rescued the prisoner from an angry mob, which was forming, and took him to police headquarters, where he was held without bond pending the outcome of the Andrews child's injuries. Meantime, he was charged with "disorderly conduct," reckless driving and violating the state prohibition law.

Passing motorists took the Andrews child to Long hospital.

At police station, the negro gave the name of John Bennett, of 273 Chestnut street.

Greatest Crowd in South's History Lines Atlanta Streets to Cheer Franklin D. Roosevelt

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt Monday was given Atlanta's greatest and most heartfelt reception as he rode through the downtown area. The crowds went mad with an hysteria of enthusiasm. Ticker tape and confetti fell in waves of color. Never before has the south's Gate City ever extended such a tremendous welcome to any man in public or private life. The top picture shows Roosevelt with hat raised in acknowledgment of the vociferous greetings as he passed along Alabama street between Forsyth and Broad streets. The ground is literally blanketed with confetti and ticker tape, and the floating particles are seen in the air. Every available window was occupied and hundreds were on the roof of Rich's, Inc., as the top picture was snapped. The Atlanta Constitution building can be seen in the left background. In the nominee's car, left to right, rear seat, are Senator-designate Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia; Hugh Howell, chairman of the Georgia state democratic committee and chairman of the reception committee in charge of the Roosevelt visit, and Roosevelt, next president of the United States. The lower picture shows the crowds in one of the few spots where ticker tape and confetti did not shower down. The background shows cordons of policemen seeking to hold the celebrators back from the Roosevelt machine. Staff photos by Rogers, Cornett and Mason.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Just after Anthony, Fifth Earl of Droitwich, had become engaged to Violet Waddington, helress of Waddington's 27 - Soups and hard-boiled as a fashion plate, Mrs.
Price, Tony's old nurse, drank too muchwhich was not unusual-and babbled a secret. She said that when Tony and her son Syd were bables she switched children; that Tony was her child and Syd was Lord Droitwich. Syd, who had a barber shop in London, invisted upon claiming the title, and Tony's family, which included his Brother, the Hon. Freeddle Chalk-Marshall, and his uncle and sunt. Sir Herbert and Lady Lydia Bassinger, decided to try to make the cockney barber so uncomfortable while "edocating" him up to his new position that he would chuck the whole affair. Tony asked for the barber shop keys and left Langley End, his country estate, for London. This method of handling Syd had been suggested by Polly Brows, a pretty American gift who was a manicuriat in Syd's shop, At the end of two we'ks Tony was head over heels in love with Polly. At the beginning of a busy Saturday afternoon Tony told Meech, who was in charge of the barber shop, to put out the "Shop Closed" sign, as he had gotten sandwiches and a bottle of champagne at the public house on the corner and he and Miss Brown were going to have lungh. The talk switched to Meech's being engaged to marry Led on by Tony, the barber detailed how he proposed to two women and then asked Tony. "Haven't

"Positively Machiavellian," said Violet. "I had no notion you were so subtle."

Tony showed no sign of entering into the jovial spirit of the occasion. "Would it interest you," he asked. "to hear that I meant exactly what I said?"

"What!"

"I am sorry for him."

Sir Herbert's geniality waned. "What are you talking about?"

"Tony," said Violet, "you're dithering." Violet's tight lips twitched. Her eyes gleamed with the cold, militant purpose which had enabled her father to push his Ninety-seven Soups to triumph in the teeth of a hostile world.

"Oh, for God's. sake," he snapped, "Chn' for God's. sake," he snapped, "Woll to froze.

"I beg your pardon," she said icily.

Tony appealed to Sir Herbert. A certain blindness to the sportsmanlike he could forgive in women, but he had always regarded the baronet as a rigid follower of the code.

"Can't you understand what I mean?" he asked helplessly. "Can't you see that it's brutal to force a man to go riding who even refuses to sit on a cushioned chair?"

"The surgeon's knife, my boy."
"Oh, you make me sick!"
There was a startled silence.
"Well, upo'n my word.
"Said Sir Herbert, purple and offended.
Tony had sufficient sense of what was fitting to apologize.
"I'm sorry. I shouldn't have said that. But... dash it..." He groped for words that would force his point of view through this poison cloud of prejudice. "Is it cricket!" he asked pleadingly.

Lady Lydia caught at the word with the skill of a practiced dialetician.
"If course it jsn't cricket. It's something much more serious,"
"Don't you realize," demanded Sir Herbert, 'that if this fellow wins his case it will be a menace to the whole peerage?"

"What rot! There have been common men in the peerage before."

"They didn't represent a tradition.
Droitwich does. Here we've been for centuries saying that blood will tell and talking about the sacred heritage of birth, and along comes this fellow with the blood of God knows how many earls in his veins acting like a costermonger and calling people onions."

Gleaned From the Notebook of Women's Division of Atlanta Community Chest

formed a background and the cohorts the foreground, and he drew them a remarkable picture of the several agencies for which they will raise funds this week. The old mother without home, somebody's mother ... the orphaned child, without abode, somebody child ... the working girl without home ... the poor derelicts, both maids and men ... all he pictured with such sympathy, and for all he showed such relief through the Chest agencies that the women happily took to the streets that auspicious Indian summer day.

One of the young lady solicitors was telling all about it. How much she had collected, how responsible people were to the call of the Chest, how quickened were her footsteps by the words of encouragement she gathered as she went along.

"Do you know," she said, her face alive with the beauty of service, "that blessed lady gave me the sales-talk, so full she was of the Biblical interpretation of charity."

A delightful patrician was the lady interviewed. One of the builders of Atlanta the and all her family grown up in the old school of per-of Atlanta, she and all her family, grown up in the old school of personal charity-giving, it was rather unexpected that she would understand the great significance of the community idea, and yet . . . she sounded the very keynote for the Chest drive.

"I'm so glad to give my money where I know it will be spent by "You know," she seemed to be thinking aloud, "unfortunate people would not be in their present plight had they the intelligence to work out their own lives without help. Why, then, just hand them money to suffice for bread for the day perhaps, and with no constructive advice to go forward?" vice to go forward?"

Such a fine interpretation of the Community Chest the young solicitor handed on to the other workers with the final remark that she wished the dear lady were able to help with the drive; for, she sighed, "she wouldn't need instructions as to what to say."

Expressing concern over her safety and that of her two children, relatives of Mrs. Margaret Mowell. 30, of 291 Rawson street, S. W., Monday appealed to police to institute a search for the woman and her sons, James, 11. and Charles, 6, who have been missing from their home since Sunday afternoon. Anxiety over their absence was deepened when the husband, J. A. Mowell, informed officers his wife frequently had threatened to commit suicide.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Phillips, parents of Mrs. Mowell, at whose home the Mowells reside, notified police Monday that their daughter and two grandsons had been missing and had informed no one of their leaving or of their plans. Mr. Mowell reported his wife had left him a brief, cryptic note, wishing him 'good luck and good-bye.' Detectives Monday night had found no trace of the missing mother and sons.

On the Air Today

Ernest Hutcheson, noted concert pi anist and composer, whose Sunday night radio recitals are among the most distinctive offerings of the air will be interviewed by Bob Taplinger. Columbia writer, during the "Meet the Artist" broadcast over the Columbia network through WGST today at 4 o'clock.

Now dean of the Julliard Graduate School of Music, Hutcheson, during recent years, has devoted more time to composition, his works including a violin concerto, and several piano selections. As part of the interview be will play one of his own composi-tions and perhaps illustrate his interpretations of Franz Liszt.

Tommy McLaughlin, lyric bari-tone, will feature the old Irish ballad, "Killarney," and the sen-timental melody, "Snowy-Breast-ed Pearl," during his appearance on the musical program, "Threads rimental metody, Snowy-Breasted Pearl," during his appearance on the musical program, "Threads of Happiness," to be broadcast over the WGST-Columbia chain from 8:15 to 8:30 p. m. today.
He also will include two popular tunes, "As Long as Love Lives On," "My Lucky Star," from a musical comedy of the past, "Follow Through" and the semiclassic ballad, "Round the Bend of the Road." Andre Kostelanetz, conducting his augmented orchestra, in addition to accompanying McLaughlin, will feature the fast tune, "Embraceable You," from Gershwin's show, "Girl Crazy," and the current song hit, "How Do You Do It?" from "Ballyhoo."

Songs and music by Arthur Tracy and Nat Shilkret's Salon Orchestra, including the Street Singer's version of "Songs for Sale," and Nat's ar rangement of "Chanson Bohemienne." will feature the broadcast of "Music That Satisfies" over the WGST-Co lumbia network today at 8 p. m. Tracy's numbers will include "Fire in My Heart." "Oh, Promise Me" and "Silver Threads Among the Gold." with Shilkret adding a concert or with Shilkret adding a concert chestration of "Sweet Mystery

J. C. Flippen, of the Flippens of Arkansas, will head the talent to be heard on the Flippen-cles broadcast over the WGST-Columbia network tonight at 9 o'clock. In the supporting cast will be the Do-Re-Mi trio, Helen Board, soprano; Brad Reynolds, tenor, and the Roundtowners' quartet. Freddie Rich and his 40-piece dance orchestra will provide the musical portion of the program, and accompany the vocalists. The Do-Re-Mi girls will offer "Pu-ceze, Mr. Hemingway;" the Roundtowners will glorify the "Sentimental Gentleman From Georgia," while the orchestra will feature a medley from the "Big Broadcast."

The American School of the Air will hold its second class of the 1932-33 season over the Columbia Broadcasting System network today from 1:30 to 2 p. m. The session will be devoted to geography. Cairo, the lower Nile and Luxor will be the region discussed, following the lead of the opening class in history which dealt with Rameses II. Egyptian king who raised the country to a position of power. Subsequent classes in history and geography will take the students through the near east, central and southern Europe and England.

Ben Alley and Helen Nugent, "Sweethearts of the Air," will be heard with Ann Leaf at the organ and Mark Warnow's string trio in "I Only Found You for Somebody Else" and a medley of selections from the tuneful "Blossom Time" when the Charis Musical Revue is broadcast over the WGST-Columbia network from 1:15 to 1:30 p. m. today.

Rolling a sweater that you have washed in a clean Turkish towel for a few moments will hasten the drying and help to prevent streaking if the columbia chain and WGST. Chopin's Prelude No. 15 will also be a feature of the program.

FIRST SAFETY LANE TO BE OPENED TODAY

The first of four safety lanes devised by local automobile interests to test the safety of car brakes will be opened this morning on Ponce de Leon avenue between Myrtle street and Arzonne avenue.

Motorists will be asked to stop their cars and let the brakes be tested.

Duning the work defective brakes will be asked to stop their cars and let the brakes be tested.

During the week defective brakes will be repaired at cost. The purpose of the movement, which has the back-ing of the Atlanta police department, is to make the motor owning public broke conscious.

On Wednesday a safety lane will be opened in West End, Another will be designated Thursday on Marietta street, and on Friday the fourth will be established somewhere on Marietta street. Every section of Atlanta will be represented.

As pointed out by Chief Sturdivant As pointed out by Chief Sturdivant of the Atlanta police defective brakes are the main cause of automobile accidents. Careless owners let their brake linings wear out with the result that they are unable to stop their cars quickly in emergencies. Accidents in such cases are inevitable. The police estimate that if every car owner in Atlanta had good brakes there would be a marked decrease in the toll of accidents. The automobile men have worked out the safety lane men have worked out the safety lane plan which will remind drivers that their cars have brakes, and that they must be in good condition if safety is maintained in fraffic.

The automobile dealers decided to set aside a week for these reminders, believing that a large numbr of owners will be curious enough about the condition of their brakes to have them examined.

Accordingly one traffic officer and experienced mechanics will be stationed at the safety lanes. Drivers will be hailed and asked to stop their cars and submit them to the simple safety lane test.

A marriage marked by beauty and dignity was that of Miss Mildred Katherine Houston, of Decatur, to Swanson Lunsford Craig, of Chester, S. C., formerly of Atlanta, which was quietly solemnized last evening at 6 o'clock at the bride's home on Church street in Decatur. Dr. D. P. Mcgeachy, pastor of the Decatur Prespete in Decatur, berformed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives and close friends. At one end of the living room an altar was erected of palms and ferns, interspersed with candelabra holding burning white tapers and baskets of yellow and white dahlias. Smilax, potted plants and yellow and white dahlias were used throughout the lower floor, in artistic arrangements.

The bride and bridegroom entered dagether and were unattended. The beautiful bride wore a brown chiffon velvet ensemble fashioned with a cream satin blouse which featured the cowl neckline. Her hat was a smart brown gloves and accessories to match. She carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and valley lilies.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig left for a wedding trip to New York and on their brown gloves and accessories to match. She carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and valley lilies.

THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1932.

Coaches Hope To Have All Injured Players Available.

Georgia Tech's football team, forgetting for the time the many compliments they received on their conquests of North Carolina Saturday, yesterday began concentrating on their next game with a traditional foe, the Vanderbilt Commodores, whom they will meet on the gridiron in Nashville next Saturday.

While two players, John Pool, center, and "Doc" Brady, tackle, recuperated from injuries received while doing yeoman work on the second line Saturday, the balance of the squad went through a comparatively light workout yesterday under the close scrutiny of their coaches.

The team, backed by a large following of admirers who will go to Nashville at the invitation of Hugh Smith, who is busy getting up a record crowding the occasion, hopes to come back with something more than a good showing. It showed Saturday that it had scoring power and now intends to use it to good advantage.

MUST STOP ROBERTS.

Mack Tharpe, who scouted the Commodores, believes that in order to beat them the team must put a checkrein on Dixie Roberts, the great back whose runs have accounted for Vandy's victories to date and the tie score with Tulane. Mack also saw in Pete Gracey a magnificent center who will put Tech's valiant Captain Neblett with Tulane. Mack also saw in Pete Gracey a magnificent center who will put Tech's valiant Captain Neblett and Johnny Pool to the iron test. Tech has beaten Vandy before, however, when the odds were against them, and this year the Jackets wish to accomplish this feat more than ever before. Their record in the conference now stands at .500, and while a victory over Vandy would indeed be an upset, the players feel that such is not impossible.

Tech's attack was so swift Satur-Tech's attack was so swift Saturday that some of the Carolinians even protested the Jacket shift, complaining that they were hurrying the count. As a matter of fact, the Tech team was merely getting off fast with the snap and the backs were running behind deadly blocking.

MATCH PLAY BEGINS.

First round matches will be played today, with Mrs. Doak playing Mrs. L. H. Beck at 9:30 o'clock. Other two-somes will leave the first tee at five-minute intervals.

There were only 22 entries and the first 16 were placed in the championship flight and the remaining players were grouped in the second flight. There will be a consolation flight for the defeated eight in the championship, but not in the second.

Monday was the first competitive round of golf that Mrs. Doak has played in more than eight months. She has been practicing regularly but has not competed in any of the spring and summer tournaments in the city and her winning the medal was somewhat unexpected. "I am more than plased to win low honor and particularly to shoot under 100 on the difficult old course, for it was my first real round in several months," Mrs. Doak said Monday afternoon.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 24.—Harry Mehre, whose football team gave Vanderbilt a bad afternoon Saturday. had his Georgia Bulldogs back down on Sanford field this afternoon for a little preliminary work before they formally launch their active preparafor the home-coming day game with Florida Saturday.

The light practice found the ma-jority of the Bulldog squad out there running around. Some of them were forced to hobble through their per-formances, because of bruises received Saturday, but they finally got control their Sunday aches and by Tues-y they should be ready to go. None the squad has any serious injuries o handicap them.

A lengthy lecture preceded the short orkout. Those Bulldogs learn a lot in those lectures. They are shown what to do and how to do it. When they get out on the field they practice what they were shown in the lecture

WORK PLEASING.

Although the Bulldogs displayed a glaring weakness when they were deep in Vanderbilt territory Saturday, their work as a whole was pleasing to Coach Mehre and his assistants. The Georgia squad is apparently on the way up and before the season is over will be letting folks know that y are still in action. Since the ldog offense did not function with-Vandy's 25-yard stripe, there is little doubt that the boys will get lot more offensive work during the next few days.

Reports brought back from Tam-pa. Fla., by Scouts Chick Shiver and Johnny Broadnax declared that the Florida 'Gators are a much better contail team than the score of the North Carolina State game would in-dicate. The 'Gators, Coach Shiver said, are, like Georgia, composed large-ly of sophomores who are gradually developing. Charley Bachman's team developing. Charley Bachman's team tried to win Saturday without displaying their best plays and as a result, Florida lost. From now on the 'Gators will probably play their football games one at a time.

LEARN 'GATOR PLAYS.

The Red Devils began learning Florida plays today. By tomorrow afternoon they will probably be sufficiently skilled at running the 'Gator plays and will try them out against the varsity. Florida uses the Notre Dame system, but Charley Bachman has added a few other plays, so the Bulldogs will devote some time to learndogs will devote some time to learn-ing just what the 'Gators use when they attempt a march down the field to the promised land.

The defense will come in for a great cal of emphasis this week, but the Bulldogs are going to work a lot on that offense. Once they get that down pat there is no telling what is liable to happen in Georgia's coming foot-

The Five Strongest Teams.

"Would you be willing," asks a reader, "to offer your pick or make your guess in naming the five strongest football seams left in the country today? This is to help settle an argument." A procedure of that sort is a much easier way to start an argument than it is to settle one.

As a starter, there are three teams that certainly belong in any such high-ranking group when you consider what they have and what they have done so far.

These three are Notre Dame, Michigan and Southern California, although it must be admitted that Notre Dame's schedule so far has been a trifle soft. But Notre Dame has almost unlimited material ready, with a great collection of linemen and just as many star hashes. great collection of linemen and just as many star backs.

Michigan proved her place in beating Michigan State, 26 to 0, and Ohio State, 14 to 0. Consider in this that Michigan State was good enough to crack a powerful Fordham team and Ohio. State was good enough to tie Pittsburgh.

universities is amazing—especially at Notre Dame, where Hunk Anderson has six or seven big, fast tackles, and at least 10 high-class backs.

The Sure-To-Go Circuit.

They meet Saturday and one or the other must pass from the spotless scene.

The same situation exists when Pitt faces Notre Dame and when Columbia tackles Cornell.

This latter affair will be one of the season's high spots. Taking no credit away from Princeton in her Cornell game, this will be a much stronger Ithacan phalanx, with Johnny Ferrara back to help Viviano, and Gil Dobie's sound advice will make quite a difference. Dobie was ill through most of the early campaign. Ferrara was injured. This fast backwill add more than a shallow contribution to Cornell's strength. BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(P)—The stock market was placid enough on the surface today, but was obviously a bit uneasy in advance of tomorrow's dividend meeting of the United States State dividend. States Steel directors.

What had the earmarks of professional selling here and there failed to bring out any important liquidation, and the list closed a shade higher, as measured by price averages. Turn-over of 555,241 shares made the smallest day's business since July

Such corporate news as appeared was moderately favorable, particularly railroad earnings and freight movement figures, but a slump of about 7 cents in the British pound sterling, on top of its dip last week, was apparently a little unsettling.

Wall Street had no very clear ideas as to what to expect from the directors' meeting of United States.

directors' meeting of United States Steel late tomorrow. Statisticians calculated that the earnings report for the third quarter would show a large deficit, but there was considerable inclination to look for maintenance of the $7 annual preferred dividend. It was the possible dividend action with which Wall Street was most concerned. Maintenance of the payment would be widely interpreted as evi-dence that the directors believed a real turn had been made in the mod-est quickening of production in the past several weeks.

United States Steel preferred was firm in the stock market, closing at 73 1-2, a net gain of 1 3-8. The com-mon finished a fraction higher. Amer-ican Tobacco "B," also was fraction-ally higher. Liggett & Myers "B," was up a point.

Selling of the biscuit stocks lacked any definite explanation, and was widely regarded as professional.

The tobacco stocks, under pressure recently, were firm. September railroad earnings re-ports bore out recent estimates that the upturn in net started in August had been carried further. Of nine carriers which have reported for Sep-tember, three showed gains in net over last year, while the aggregate was only about 13 1-8 per cent under that month of 1931. The group showed a drop from last year of about 40 per cent for the first nine months

Wall Street banking quarters had no definite information as to what was going on in sterling exchange. but the British treasury appeared to e withdrawn its support again, it was assumed that the decision had been made to stabilize the cury at a lower level, which, in the which England can sell her goods in foreign markets, and at the same time to tend to reduce imports.

Foreign Markets

LONDON—Prices were depressed on the stock exchange during most of the session. Poor foreign advices and the sharp decline in sterling caused gilt-edged securities to ease and this was followed by a decline in other sections. Oil shares and textile issues hardened later but buyers were scarce and the market closed unsettled.

PARIS—Prices on the bourse today were heavy. Expected difficulties in balancing the budget and unfavorable foreign advices, including the weakness in sterling, were factors causing the decline. The closing was heavy.

BERLIN-Trading was quiet on the boerse and the close was weak. Miscellaneous Markets

WOOL.

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—Trading in wool is very slow. Not enough business is being transacted to make a market. Quotations, however, are mostly steady, as the larger holders are adhering rather firmly to recently asking prices in spite of the willingness of some houses to sell odd lots at slight concession. The receipts of domestic wool at Boston during the week ending October 22, estimated by the Boston Grain and Flour Exchange, amounted to 479.800 pounds as compared with 12,653,300 pounds during the previous week

The advance in Liverpool was a little more than sufficient to offset the decline in sterling. It was reported the wage dispute in the Lancashire spinning mills had been settled and according to the New York Cotton Exchange service the decline in sterling has placed Manchester in a slightly better position to compete for business in the eastern markets.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—According to wellinformed sources considerable difference of opinion exists among Steel corporation directors themselves to adviaable course of action. Under the circumstances Wall Street does not appear inclined to anticipate results of the meeting of broader implications of the decision to be taken. Facts of corporation's poor operating position at present are well known. The question which the stock market is waiting an answer upon is how these high-placed directors view near-term recovery prospects and relation of these prospects with necessily for maintaining strong working capital positions. Speculation on Steet corporation meeting is likely to dominate tomorrow's market with the principal point in the market's favor, being the lower level of

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—There was little increase in market activity today, volume continuing small and fluctuations narrow. A further decline in the wheat market brought speculative selling into stocks, but there was no evidence of important liquidation and whenever recent lows were reached good support appeared to be present. The Street is still uncertain as to the action of the directors of United States Steel tomorrow in regard to the preferred dividend, Much of the trading that ordinarily would be done seems to be deferred until that aunouncement is made after the close tomorrow. An increase in gasoline prices in some parts of the country accounted for firmness in 'he oil group and there should be an excellent chance for worthwhile gains in this department if the general market permits.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Added to the preelection duliness in the atock market was the further influence of the coming meeting of the United States Steel directors to consider the payment of the preferred dividend. Total volume amounted to only 600,000 shares. The apathy in trading was sufficient to offset the unfavorable effect of further weakness in wheat and cotton and of a sharp decline in sterling. The rate of steel operations is said to be holding at 19½ per cent. It does not seem unlikely that marked duliness will continue in the early dealings tomorrow although some increased activity may appear before the close by those attempting to forstell
the results of the United States Steel

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The market at the best in forenoon was 3 to 5 points above the previous close, but in end was at the lowest of the session and 4 to 7 points net lower. Relative strength of Liverpool, which was considerably better than due even after giving effect to the sharp decline in sterling, announcement of settlement of the wage controversy in the spinning section in sterling, announcement of settlement of the wage controversy in the spinning section in Lancashire and the forecast pointing to possible showers or rains in practically all sections in the next 36 hours were among factors contributing to constructive sentiment. The decline of wheat into new low ground for the year and hesitation caused by disposition to await outcome of presidential election were responsible for some selling by outside interests, including the west. FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER. CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—A severe decline in sterling exchange unsettled all markets and under discouraged liquidation, led by eastern commission houses. All deliveries in wheat made new low records for the season. Stoploss selling developed in small volume but encountered sufficient new demand to check the decline which partially recovered at close. CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Persistent scattered selling by commission bouses largely in small lots carried wheat futures off to a new low level for the season today. Some stop-loss orders were uncovered on the way down despite buying on resting orders and by holders of bids. Support, however, was effective in preventing sharp declines. December came within a fraction of 41 and compared with the lowest figure known on the local exchange, of 445 cents made last fall. Break in wheat led to scattered selling of corn with a decline to a new low for the season for the December and the May, the nearby delivery equalling the inside figure of December, 1896. Oats and rye were easier with other grains, with May rye at a new low for the season.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.-(A)-Most listed loan categories followed the lines of least resistance today with the result that bond market prices were highly irregular and dullness prevailed throughout.

It was one of the slowest full day's sessions of the year, sales totaling only $6,897.000, par value. The average for 60 domestic corporate issues declined one-tenth of a point. Firmness of some rail securities provided the only bright spot of the investment horizon. Loans of Nickel Plate were comparatively strong, the 6 per cent notes gaining 6 1-2 points on the belief the company's refunding plan, involving a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, would receive the approval of "substantially all" of the note-holders.

Another sharp slump in the British pound sterling did not do the market any good. Foreign bonds were generally soft.

Soviet Finds "Rubber" In Lowly Dandelion

MOSCOW, Oct. 24.—(P)—In its widespread search for rubber substitutes, soviet Russia has found that the lowly dandelion contains a substance which preliminary investigation has established as equal in quality to natural rubber. Natural rubber is virtually the only important raw material not produced in the U. S. S. R.

Newspapers announced that an expedition of the scientific exploration institute has discovered a variety of dandelion in the orimea which contains a liquid in the stem and root having all the properties of rubber. This liquid is said to be much easier and less expensive to extract than substances from other plants which are used here in the making of a substitute for rubber.

Experimental transplantation to other soils and climates has proved successful. Plans now are being made to start large scale growing of the "rubber dandelion" for indus-trial purposes. Already two tons of seed are being gathered.

Whatever action is taken by the directors of the United States Steel Corporation on the preferred dividend after the close of trading tomorrow undoubtedly will have some tendency toward ending the dullness which now prevails in the share market.

Reduction or omission of the dividend due at this time on Steel preferred would have an unfavorable effect on the general share list and probably would be utilized by the professional bear element to depress stock quotations further.

of the view taken by the corporation's directorate of important men with regard to the future.

At the last declaration an executive of the corporation stated continuance of the preferred dividend would be dependent upon improvement in business. While there has been improvement in the steel trade, it is a question whether it has been sufficient to warrant declaring the regular payment at this time.

The corporation's statement of earnings for the quarter ended September 30 is not expected to show any improvement over the preceding quarter, so that whatever action is taken on the preferred dividend will be based on the outlook at this time.

rrants. RNINGS SHOW

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS. W. Va., Oct. 24.—(P)—Legal beer and a federal tax thereon could bring the government as much as $754,000,000 additional revenue, the Investment Bankers'—Association convention was informed by its federal taxation committee today.

Without giving an opinion on prohibition, the committee reported that a tax up to 40 cents a gallon on beer might readily be levied, which would bring this large sum, and which is roughly equivalent to three-fourths of the federal income tax collected in the last fiscal year.

"The assistance," the committee reported, "of such additional revenue would be in the present emergency, representing as it would a voluntary payment constituting a burden only on those whose chose to become when representing as it would a voluntary payment constituting a burden only on those whose chose to become subject thereto, cannot be disregarded.

"From all the data on the present estimated consumption of illegal beer, naturally approximate and subject to wide variations, a very substantial portion of this tax revenue would not represent additional expenditure on the part of the American public but rather a diversion of funds now going into bootlegging channels."

Colonel Allen M. Pope, in his address opening the convention, reported results of an association research to show that on the whole bond investors have suffered surprisingly little by bond defaults.

McCullough Petition To Be Ruled on Today

Judge W. E. H. Searcy Jr., of the Griffin circuit, is scheduled to file with the state court of appeals by noon today an answer to the petition of Andrew and Alvin McCullough for mandamus absolute compelling Judge Searcy to sign a bill of exceptions on an appeal from his decision denying a change of venue from Fayette county.

a change of venue from Fayette county.

When Judge Searcy's answer is filed, the court will decide the case on the briefs submitted, without oral argument, it was said. Trial of the McCulloughs for the murder of William B. Baker, Atlanta capitalist, on his farm in Fayette county in September was set for Monday but was postponed by Judge Searcy until Wednesday in order to allow the defense an opportunity of presenting the case to the appellate court.

Georgia maidens are wearing sacks this season—plain, ordinary fertilizer sacks. They save money and the frocks, made of burlap bags, are different.

Each dress costs about 30 cents and some labor.

The idea came from Miss Beulah Harden, home demonstration agent for Clinch, Afkinson and Echols counties, and has spread across Georgia's naval stores belt until many girls have learned to convert bags into swell dresses.

Bags are plentiful. Every farm has a surplus. All that is necessary, says Miss Harden, is for a girl to clean a few bags, cut out a dress along any pattern, add a collar, dye the dress and put it on.

Meany of the daysling yellow, green and put it on.

So she did. She cut the dress on a simple pattern, added a white collar material 10 cents, thread 5 cents and bags nothing:
